KILLING THEMSELVES WITH PISTOLS. TWO MEN OF OPPOSITE CHARACTER COMMIT SUI-

Two Germans, who were as unlike in character as two men could well be, killed themselves with pistols about the same hour yesterday. One of them was Leo Fleidner, a wietched drunkard, twenty-two years old, who had been cast off by his family and was in fear of being sent to prison. When he was sober he worked in a gas meter shop and he helped to support his wife and child, who are said to be in Connecticut. His fits of drunkenness shut him out of the sympathy of his tather, who keeps a beer shop at Ninth-ave, and Twenty-ninth-st., and of his brother, who is in the same business in West Forty-second-st. He had not been known as a rufflan until the night of August 5, when he attempted to assault Mary Rooney, the young daughter of Policeman Rooney, of the Thirty-first Precinct. He met her in Ninth-ave, near Sixty-first-st., and attempted to drag her into a yacant lot, but she escaped and had him arrested. He was held in $1,500 bail for trial. Although he succeeded in finding ball, he became more of a sot than ever, and appeared to be much disturbed on account of his approaching trial. Most of his time was spent in liquor stores, and it was said that he had ceased to have a nome of his own.

A hardware merchant in Seventh-ave, refused to CIDE ON THE SAME DAY.

disturbed on account of his approaching times was spent in liquor stores, and it was said that he had ceased to have a home of his own.

A hardware merchant in Seventh-ave, refused to sell Fleidner a single cartridge yesterday moraing, but the German afterward procured a cartridge to fit a pistol which he carried with him. About 9 a.m. Fleidner went into the beer shop at No. 300 West Porty-second-st, and, seating himself at a table, Forty-second-st, and, seating himself at a table, Forty-second-st, and, seating himself at a table, took a final drink. Then he shot himself in the heart and fell dead in front of the astonished barried to some of his relatives, they said they would not bury his body, and it was taken away by a friendly undertaker in West Forty-second-st.

Kilian Schultz was a steady but melancholy man, who had kept the small cigar store at No. 46 First-ave, for eleven years. He had a good wife, who helped him in their prosperous business. As there were no children in the family, Schultz was able to lay up some money in a savings bank every year. He was devoted to his wife and was not often out of her sight. His only trouble, so far as she knew, was a weak stomach. For years he had complained of indigestion, and he was fretful at times because his friends could not beheve that he was sick. In June he went into the country and remained there two months. When he returned about two weeks ago, his cheeks were brown and ruddy, but he still said he was not well. "If it were not for you," he said to his wife, "I would kill myself."

He was about the cigar store as usual yesterday morning, but at 8 a. m. he said he felt much worse than usual and would lie down. He went up to the second floor of the tenement house, where he and his wife usually slept, and Mrs. Schultz took charge of the store. There was a suspicious noise about an hour later, but nobody took much notice of it. Later, when a tobacco dealer called at the store, Mrs. Schultz when to the coroner-to prevent any trouble about his death. The letter

NO REEDBIRDS FOR SALE. DEALERS ENLIGHTENED AND ALARMED BY MR.

ROOSEVELT'S LETTER IN THE TRIBUNE.

A good deal of surprise and no little animosity have been created among game and poultry dealers in this city through a letter which appeared in The Tenbune yesterday from R. B. Roosevelt, president of the Association for the Protection of Game, calling attention to the law passed by the last Legislature prohibiting the sale of receibirds, robins and meadow-larks. The season for reedbirds opened with the beginning of August, with prices ruling about 50 cents a dozen. Already many thousand dozens have been openly sold in ignorance or violation of the law. The supply reaches its highest point about this time and on Thursday thousands of them were exposed for sale as low as 20 cents per dozen. A visitor to Fulton or Washington markets to-day will not see one. Alexander B. Powell, a Washington Market dealer, said to a Tribune reporter yesterday: ROOSEVELT'S LETTER IN THE TRIBUNE.

CHARGING A BOOKKEEPER WITH THEFT.

Etta A Gammans sells fish by the wholesale down in Fulton Market. Horatio A Wright has been her bookkeeper and cashier since August, 1885. She had him arrested yesterday, charging him with embezzlement. Judge Churchill granted the order of arrest. In her complaint Mrs. Gammans says that Wright has had the exclusive handling of her finances, paying out and receiving all the money. Since she employed him he has made a series of false entries in her books concealing thefts varying in amount from $100 to $10. She has distinctly traced false entries to the amount of $703, and is satisfied that the small sums taken are far in excess of that sum. Between the dates of March 29, 1886, and April 20, 1886, she put into her business extra capital amounting to about $4,000, all of which has disappeared, though her business was never so good as it has been this year. She can only account for the total disappearance of this sum by attributing it to the thefts of Wright. The order of arrest was confided by Order of Arrest Clerk Martin to Deputy Sheriffs Crawford, Burke and Brown, who learned that Wright was living with a woman, not his wife, in a house at Thirteenth-st, and Third-ave. Deputy Sheriff Brown succeeded by an artifice in inducing the woman to open the front door to him. She started to shut it again; but he quickly pressed himself through and began to hunt for Wright. He was found in an adjoining room and was taken by Deputy Sheriff Burke to Ludlow Street Jail. CHARGING A BOOKKEEPER WITH THEFT.

SHOPLIFTING IN SIXTH AVENUE. Detective-Sergeants Reilly and Maguire were stro ling up Sixth-ave, on Thursday, when they noticed two professional shoplifters going from store to store, and finally arrested them at Miss Jeannette Picaul's store, No. 295 Sixth-ave. At this place one of them had engaged the attention of the sales woman, while the other deftly abstracted five ostrich feathers, valued at $3.50 each, from a showcase. When arrested the women drew close together and dropped their apoils down between their dresses. Besides the feathers, the officers recovered some slik hose from Altman's and a dozen pairs of sitk mits from Simpson, Crawford & Simpson's. The women were taken to Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday morning and remanded. They are Annie Mack, alias Brocky, and Neillie Bond, alias McCarthy. Their pictures are in the Rogues' Gallery, Nos. 1,628 and 1,640.

PASSING WORTHLESS CHECKS.

Joseph Stern, who says he lives at the Occidental Hotel, was held at the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday for passing two worthless $15 checks recently; one on L. H. Myers, of No. 7 West Forty-second-st., and the other on J. W. Wuellner, of No. 272 Eventh-ave. He is a brother of the Stern Brothers, confectioners, at Elighth-ave. and Thirty-fourth-st., and he signed the firm's name to the checks, although in no way connected with the establishment. It is said he has thus raised $300 or $400 within a few months.

CHARGING A POST TRADER WITH FRAUD. CHARGING A POST TRADER WITH FRAUD.

Mrs. Catharine Wisbacher some time ago met William Delany, the post trader at Fort Stanton, New-Mexico, and with another German woman emigrated to New-Mexico under his care. She intrusted $200 to him, and understood that he was going to pay their travelling expenses. She says she failed to see any of the money sgain and returning to New-York had Delany arrested yesterday while he was buying goods. The man showed her receipt for $141, and Justice Pord, at the Jefferson Market Folice Court, disonarged him. The woman cannot read English and says she never knew anything about the $141.

On an application for alimony and counsel fee in a suit for a separation brought by Barbara against Theodore Goetze, the troubles of their married life were brought before Justice Churchill, in the Supreme Court, Chambers, resterday, Mr. Goetze, who is now sixty-two years old and is said to be Mr. Goetze, who is now sixty-two years old and is said to be worth $100,000, lives at No. 110 Second'st, with his six grown children by his first wife. On March 8, 1885, he married Barbara, who had two grown children. Her step children abused her and her husband called her vite names and struck her in the face. She left him and sued for a limited divorce. The Judge decided that the husband must pay his wife $500 at Year and $150 counsel fee pending the suit.

The wife of Daniel Sullivan, the actor, better known by his stage of "Dan Sully," after, as she says, condening previous offences on his part, has now brought an action for absolute divorce alleging that he has been too intimate with Louise For. Justice Churchill reserved his decision on her application for alimony.

Not satisfied with the refusal of the Board of Excise Commissioners to give him a license for the sale of Not satisfied with the tertusal of the sale of liquor at "the Haymarket" in Sixth-ave, William McMahon, the proprietor, applied to the City Court for a peremptery mandamus directing the board to license the place. Judge mandamus directing the board to license the place. Judge mandamus directing the board to license the place. Judge Ehrlich, in Special Term, vesterday denied the application. "The two facts," he said, "which the return discloses are that the place for which the itense is sought is of bad repute and that, under the control of the relator, it has long been the resort of immoral persons. These facts have evidence in their support and are not denied."

An order was signed by Justice Churchill, of the Supreme Court, settling the responsibility of George A. Osgood and Cyrus Curtia, at one time receivers of the Columbian Insurance company, which failed several years ago, and both of whom are dead. The settlement is made on the basis of the payment of $100,000 to the insurance company, and the fees of the referre and of counsel, make the total payment $120,000, benides $1,000 previously padd.

An attachment was granted yesterday by Justice Churchill against the property of Nathan S. Schreiber, at the suit of Charles H. Reynolds, for $300 50. The plaintiff says he employed Schreiber to collect the rents of Nos. 507 to 51 I East Frifteenth-at, and that he has failed to account for the moneys received by him last month.

MR. MORDECAPS HOPELESS AFFECTION. MR. MORDECAP'S HOPELESS AFFECTION.

When the case of William G. McKenzie, a boy who committed bigamy, and who is now in the Elmira Reformatory, was beard in the Brooklyn courte, one of the witnesses was Florence Pearsall. One of the lawyers who met her was Reginald A. Mordecal, a awarthy South American, who is frequently mistaken for a negro by reason of his color. He conceived an apparently hopeless affection for Miss Pearsall and has been beseiging her stony heart with letters, as full of affection as he has dared to make them. But the obdurate young woman became weary of receiving his epistolary addresses. Yesterday she went to Police Justice Walsh and submitted the case to his judgment. The following is the latest sample of the letters which annoy her:

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 1, 1886. Miss Florence Praesall.

My Drar Miss: It is not necessary for me to relierate the manner and cause of our meeting, as with that fact you are fully conversant; but my object in thus addressing you is on a matter of personal happiness to myself, which I trust will hat he same to you.

a matter of personal happiness to myself, which I trust will be the same to you.

It may seem strange that at this time I should make this declaration. Alas, I cannot refrain from so doing. For many years I have patiently looked forward toward having a partner in Hie, but could never find the one on whom I could bestow all my affection and love until I beheld thee.

You may think me hold by making this declaration of my love. Ever since our first meeting I have carnestly tried to consider the idea of love as being varie, but the more I gave a thought to any such idea my whole self became more deeply centred in your welfare.

I therefore most carnestly ask the following questions, viz.:

cereity promise that you wan never me will never know softow.

I am practical, not rash.

I do immediately ask a definite answer. All that I would at present request would be for you to grant me an interview at an early.

Then we could better lak the matter over an over fully understand each other. Trusting that you will accord me an early answer, and hoping that the interview prayed for will be granted.

I am yours, most lovingly,

I am yours, most lovingly,

Justice Walsh sent word to the writer that he must stop aunoying the young woman, or he would be arrested. PUTTING THE CONDUITS IN PLACE.

About two dozen sections of the electrical conduits were laid yesterialy in the sixth Avenue Subway trench. The first was put down about 10 o'clock by a gang of men from the Dersett works in the pre-ence of Commissioners Moss and Hess, Engineer Kearney and Dr Ledoux, chemist of the commission. The two lines of conduits are laid side by side about two and one-half inches apart. Papier mache tubes about four inches in length are used to connect the tubes of one section with those of the next. Tuses sections are about an inch apart, the tubes forming the connection. As soon as the tubes are fir-ally placed boding tar pitch, the material of which the conduits are mate, is poored into the space around the exposed portions of the tubes, When this hardens it is fluished oil so that it is almost impossible to tell where the connections are maile.

The work of laying the conduits went slowly at first, owing to the inexperience of most of the workmen, but the forecusan in charge said that in a week he would have them able to lay 500 feet a day. When a few yarfa of the conduits were laid masons were set to work bricking them in. A single layer of brick was used on the sides and on top.

Dr. Cyrus Edson and his assistants in the sanitary Bureau, with five State milk inspectors, were on the watch early pesteroay morning for additerated milk coming to the city over the West Shore Railroad. They stopped the waxons winch crossed the Jay Street and Forty-second Street ferries and sampled the milk on all of them. At the Jay Street Ferry about 1,200 cans of milk were examined, and forty one cans, containing 1,640 quarts of skinmed or watered milk, were empited in the gutter. One milkman named Schmidt, who was suspected of dealing in bad milk, tried to Impose on the inspectors by keeping his wagon in the ferry until the dealers had gone. The inspectors pretended to go away size, but returned in time to seize seven cans of oud milk which he had on his wagon. At the Forty-second Street Ferry a large number of cans were examined, but no bad milk was found. The early morning raids are to be continued for a while, because a falling off in the supply of milk in some parts of the country tempts the dealers to make up the deficiency with water.

AN ACCIDENT ABOARD THE BOSTON.

AN ACCIDENT ABOARD THE BOSTON.

A serious accident occurred in the work on the United States cruiser Boston, at the Cob Dock in the Navy Yard, late on Thursday atternoon. The vessel is being fitted with new steel maste, and a steel top plece for the foremast, weighing probably two tons, was being hoisted into position by a derrick. It had teen raised some forty teet from the deck and a rigger named Hugh Noble was on it preparing to fit it in its place, when it tilted over suddenly, cutting the rope which held it and fell to the deck, carrying Noble with it. It crashed through the plot house and damaged the gearing and steam-heating apparatus. Noble's fellow workmen expected to find his dead body in the debris, but to the surprise of all he was only sightly injured. A small bone in one leg was broken and he was bally snaken up but he is expected speedily to recover. His pay will be allowed to go on until he can resume work. The damage caused by the accident amounted to $1,462.68.

STEAMBOAT MEN END THEIR SESSION.

The National Board of Steam Navigation The National Board of Steam Navigation finished up its business pesterday and adjourned to meet here again next year. In response to the request of the National Industrial and Shipping League that the Board send delegates to the next convention of the League, it was decided that while the Board recognized the justice of the League's claims it was not yet prepared to take any action in the matter at present. A resolution requesting an amendment to the laws perturing to saling vessels was unanimously agreed upon. This asks that saling vessels be compelled to show such lights at the stern as will indicate whether they are under sail or being towed instead of the ordinary flash light that they now carry.

The members of the Board spent the afternoon on the steamer B. T. Haviland visiting various points of interest in the bay and up the river.

MUCH CONFLICTING TESTIMONY. MUCH CONFLICTING TESTIMONY.

Police Justices Waish and Massey sat as a court of special Sessions yesterday in the Adams Street Police Court, in Brooklyn, to examine the charge made against William C. Cole, of No. 217 Fearlest, by Sarah Wilmington, age fourteen, of No. 191 Johnson-st., who claims that he is the father of her child, now two mouths old. The girl lives with her foster father, Robert Shepard, whose stepdaughter is Cole's wife. The girl teatified to improper relations with Cole. Mrs. Shepard supported this teatimony. The defence set up a ciaim of conspiracy on the part of Shepard and his wife to ruin Cole, whose marriage to their daughter they opposed. Mrs. Cole testified that Sarah confessed to her to intimacy with her stepfather, a man of sixty-tro years, and with a young man named Boyce. Decision in the case was reserved on account of the conflicting character of the evidence. Cole denies any criminality and is held in bail.

THE DANGER OF PALSE SWEARING. Gottfried Mack, cabinetmaker, of No. 518
Sixth-at., was required to furnish bail in $1,000 for examination before Justice Gorman yesteriay at the Essex Market Police Court, for testifying before the same Justice on September 2 that he was the owner of the parroom at No. 108 Chrystie-st. On September 2 Albert Struble, a bartender, was charged with selling liquor without a license at No. 108 Chrystie-st. Mack testified for the defence that he was the owner of the barroom, and showed a license, which he said he had taken from the wall to have framed. On the strength of his testimony Struble was discharged. Subsequently it was found, that Frederick W. Frisch was the owner of the barroom, which he bought from Mack on August 13. Jacob Ripp, of No. 308 Broome-st., became bondsman for Mack.

THE GALATEA AND MAYFLOWER IN DOCK. WILL LIEUTENANT HENN'S BERMUDA CHALLENGE

BE ACCEPTED ! The English yacht Galatea went up the East River in tow yesterday, and at 12 o'clock the work of taking her out of water on the sectional dock at Rutgers-st. was begun. As soon as the yacht was high and dry the superintendent of the dock set a gang of men at work cleaning her. Then J. Beaver-Webb appeared and told them to stop work. He wanted the sailors to do the cleaning. Mr. Clark, the dock superintendent, said that Captain Bradford, the saling-master of the Gala-tea, had told him to have men ready to go to work on the boa', but that he would immediately tell them to stop. He did so and the Galatea's crew were turned out with pails, scrapers and brooms to go to work. It was nearly 2 o'clock before the crew began work. A large number of people were admiring the yacht and speculating on the chances of her winning the cup. Lieutenant and Mrs. Henn were aboard. Lieutenant Henn's pet monkey was tied to the starboard shrouds and kept walking up and down the sall in evident excitement at seeing so many people. Just below the monkey steed J. Beaver-Webb smoking a pipe and looking serencity confident of the doings of the yacht of his design.

The Galatea, considering the short time she has been in the water, was in an extremely bad condition. Great blotches of rust and patches of seaweed disfigured her shapely hull. As soon as she is cleaned she will be painted and a coat of potlead put on over the paint. She will go off the dock on Monday. The painting and potleading, Mr. Clark said, would be done by the laborers of the dock. Lieutenant Henn was officially in-formed last Saturday that the Mayflower had been selected to sail against the Galatea.
At 10:30 o'clock yesterday the Mayflower was taken

At 10:30 o'clock yesterday the Mayflower was taken up on the drydeck at Court-st., Brooklyn. The tide was then about two-thirds high. She was fouled very little and the potlead on her was comparatively smooth and glossy. She will be thoroughly scraped, however, and a fresh cont of potlead putton. All the spars and ropes of the Mayflower have been tested, and aside from setting up her rigginst more taut nothing will be done to the American champion above the water line. A number of people made the disagreesble journey to the foot of Court-st, to see the wonderful yacht.

The rumor that Caliwell Colt was ready to accept Lieutenaut Henn's challenge to sail around Bermuda was laughed at by yachtsmen yesterday. Mr. Henn's challenge was for any American "single stick." that is a sloop, and the question as to whether any sloop will accept the challenge will not be made known until the special meeting of the New-York Yacht Club on Monday night. The Dauntless was put against the Gauestaln ithe Birenton's Reef and Cape May races for the express purpose of heinz beaten. She never stood the ghost of a show offsaving the cups, and it was so understood by every one. It is not at all likely that Lieutenant Henn would consider the proposition to sail against the Danntiess. His idea is to test the relative searong qualities of English and American sloops. A race between the Galatea and the Danntiess around Beranda would be a farce.

He will remain there about a week before sailing for Engiand to try his livek again with Beach. PROWESS IN THE DEER FOREST.

PROWESS IN THE DEER FOREST.

Mr. Bradley-Martin, who rents Balmacaan, Lasy scade-id family piace in the Gien Urquhart district of Inverness-shire, together with the deer-forest and grouse-moor, which are among the best in the Highlands, has this season increased his aporting ground by renting from Lady Scatled the capital moors of Lochletter, which "march" with Raimacaan, and extend to aome 13,000 acres, making up altogether a total of over 60,000 acres of shooting. Four guns shot on Lochletter on the 12th, and bagged sixty-nine and a haif brace of grouse in a lew hours. The birds are strong on the wing and in good condition. The deerstaising at Balmacaan commenced last Thesday, when Colonel Jay, of New York, and his sister-in-law, Miss Ocirichs, went out in the forest and each killed a fine young stag. This is a rare feat for a lady to accomplish. Miss Ocirichs shot her stag with all the sacoir faire of a veteran stalker, and her name will assuredly live in the momories of the foresters and keepers in Gien Urquhart. The deer are rather backward, so there will be no more stalking till after September 1. Mr. Brailey-Martin has lett Loonletter House to Lady Aifred Paget and her daughters for a few weeks, and they are to reside there during September.

a few weeks, and they are to reside there during september.

It requires much courage to let a lady try her hand in a deer-forest, for she should follow the grevious example of that German Prince who, when staying with the Duke of Sutherland at Dubrobin, was sent out in the forest for a few days' sport, and who created a perfect consternation by aunouncing, when he entered the drawing room before dinner, that although he could not boast of having killed a stag, yet he had succeeded in wounding several; and the ingenious foreigner then looked round complacently for congratulations. This, however, was not so bad as the feat of a far more distinguished German serenity at an English country place. He went out pheasant-shooting, and being rainer absent, and accusioned to his own jagd to shoot but boar and chevrenil, he only succeeded in bagging one of the keepers; and at Windsor Castle, some vears ago, a certain hereditary Prince was forced to retire to bed after the day's sport, with his shoulder heavily poulticed, as it had been severely brussed by the kicking of his guo, which had been preposterously overloaded, because his "governor" had not thought fit to trust the operation to competent hands.

Some remarks made by the Rev. Father Corrigan, of Jersey City, at a meeting of the Irish National Learne on Thursday night in 8t. Michael's Institute, Jersey City, created much comment. When Father Corrigan was called upon to speak, he directed attention to the fact that the fiev. Father Schmidt had been sent as a delegate to Chicago from Hudson County although he belonged in Passaic County. He could not understand why a German from another county should be chosen as a representative of the Irish people of Hudson County. Father Corrigan also thought that the New Jersey delegation was knowed in the convention, John Kenny, of Jersey City, said that Father Schmidt was appointed by State Delegate Holmes because he had been of great service to the movement.

A political organization known as the "Hardiy Ables" went on a clam bake and pienic at Fox Island yesterday. All the Westchester County officers were on hand. The "Hardiy Ables" clam-bake is the forerunner of the Democratic County Convention, and it is there the politicians really arrange their plans. The result of the confer-nce yesterday was that the old county ticket is to be renominated. Nelson H. Parker, for District Attorney; Joseph D. Miller, for Register; John M. Digney, for County Clerk, and Aaron Read, for Superin-tendent of the Poor. All the factions were present.

THE THIRD PARTY IN PENNSYLVANIA SPLIIS Lancaster diseases to the Prohibition camp. P. S. Goodman, secretary of the State Committee, announces his intention of demanding the withdrawal of Mr. Wolfe from the ticket. In the event of a refusal he will break away from the organization, and at once resign the chairmanship of the Lancaster County Prohibition party.

Professor H. D. Patton, of this city, who was elected chairman of the Prohibition State Central Committee, to-day sent a letter to A. A. Stephens, of Blair County, president of the Convention, declining the position.

Professor Patton, accompanied by Goodman, went to Philadelphia yesterday to make arrangements for permanent headquarters for the committee. They were met by Candidate Wolfe and a number of proninent Prohibitionists of the city, who met Chairman Patton's suggestions for the campaign with the statement that they did not recognize any authority on his (Patton's) part to make them, and that his claim to be chairman of the State Committee was illegal and unfounded.

They told Patton that the committee that elected him was composed of only sixty-eight members while chairman of the State Committee was illegal and unfounded.

They told Patton that the committee that elected him was composed of only sixty-eight members while the whole committee numbered 201, over half of whom they claimed was required for a quorum. After some further attempts to buildoze Patton they made the suggestion that the latter become the organizer of the party, and allow somebody else of Mr. Wolfe's choice to conduct the campaign. This Mr. Patton emphatically refused, and the Philadelphians then threatened to call another meeting to depose him. They told Patton to his face that they didn't propose to allow him to be a mere figure-head, and leave Jim Black to run the concern. The meeting broke up with the announcement by Chairman Patton that he would immediately resign the chairmanship and appeal to the party in the State. Mr. Goodman remarked that it was plainly evident why Wolfe had joined the Prohibitionists, the other parties no longer affording him a disposition to assert his dictatorial disposition.

A SUDDENLY QUICKENED CONSCIENCE.

A SUDDENLY QUICKENED CONSCIENCE,
From The Wannington Post.
The servant girl employed by Architect Clark, of the Capitol, is a devout Catholic, and she was saying her evening prayers at the time the earthquake came along. Faeing her was an alabaster statue of the Virgin. While the girl was in the midst of her prayer the statue began to nod. Back and forward the statue swayed, nodding its head deprecatingly. As the statue continued its reproving motion, the girl, being a little superstitious, grew frightened and ran down stairs screaming. Mr. Clark and herself were the only occupants of the house.
"Oh, forgive me! forgive me!" she cried, as she knelt down and clutched the skirt of Mr. Clark's coat.
"Save me! save me! forgive me! forgive me!" she repeated until her fright had almost taken passesion of Mr. Clark, too. "It was me that broke them dishes," she said. "I'll never tell a to again," Mr. Clark forgave her, and when the girl rather timidly returned upstairs to her room she found that, having told the truth, the statue had ceased reproving her. It shook its head no more, but stood still and wore its usual pleasant

of a far more distinguished German secenity at an English country place. He went out pheasant-shooting, and being rather absent, and accustomed to his own jagd to shoot but boar and chevrouil, he only succeeded in barging one of the keepers; and at Windeor Castle, come years ago, a certain hereditary Prince was forced to retire to bed after the day's sport, with his shoulder heavily poulticed, as it had been preposterously overloaded, because his "governor" had not thought fit to trust the operation to competent hands.

THE SEA SERPENT'S REALITY PROVEN.

Oh, thou serpent, dragon, demon, hitherto to common seamen, from Alaska to Van Dieman, thou hast shown thy devil visare and thy length of scaly twil; but none will doubt thy being when a councilman of Gloucester and a pedacogue of Boston, stand up boldly on the roster and declare that they have seen thee—how thy sceptics crimes and quantifor, the uncertainty of the course, don't destroy or overpower us; we are humble, true believers in thy being, fam us snake! for no old world-traveled sailor, that the ocean's waves have tossed on 'gainst a councilman of Gloucester or a pedacogue of Boston, would the singhtest vague denial or mild contradiction make! In thy wandering eccentricity thou hast long sought for publicity, but thy vaild authenticity men would doubt and still deny; but fair truth must stand triumphant, whatsoe'er the price it cost her, and a pedagogue of Boston or a councilman of Gloucester cannot, would not, will not, could not—could not ever tell a lie.

"Two dollars," exclaimed the farmer, "Well, I s'pose I'll hev to pay it to ge, but if ye charge me $2 for merryin' me, ye'll hev to be purty goldarned civil about it."

HENRY A. DANIELS, M. D., 144 Lexington-ave., between 29th and 30th sts. Hours—8 to 1, 5 to 7. Diseases of the Nervous System. Genito Urinary Organa. Impotence and sterility. THE POOR LITTLE ONES.

We often see children with red eruptions on face and hands, rough, scaly skin, and often sores on the head. These things indicate a depraved condition of the blood. In the growing period, children have need of pure blood by which to build upstrong and healthy bodies. If Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is given, the blood is purged of its bad elements, and the child's development will be healthy, and as it should be. Scrotchous affections, rickets, fever-acres, hip joint discase or other grave maladies and suffering are sure to result from neglect and mack of proper attention to such cases.
